Hind Leys
Pre-School

- Willingness to work as part of a team and undertake a personal development plan. Have a likeness/love of the outdoors as lots of time is spent in nature.
- To use own initiative and lead small groups of children.
- Be willing to learn new skills.
- Good communication skills with a diverse range of people and children. Singing is a must.
- Flexibility of working hours if possible.
- Attend staff training and be open to discussions about own development.
- Friendly, positive approach with a good sense of humour – even if things get tough and don't seem funny. You must be able to offer kind words and lots of hugs as necessary.
- Commitment to Equal Opportunities, diversity, and inclusion.
- To undertake any reasonable duties, to remain focused and be guided by the Senior or Manager.
- To undergo clearance and police checks.
- A commitment to young children and families is essential, you will feel loved and respected by them in return. There is simply no other job that provides this.
- To complete a journal for our children that is treasured for years after they leave us.
- Motivated, reliable and committed to Early Years.
